KAPALKA—MILLS

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Knox United church, Fernie, on Saturday last, when Janet Cooper, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mills, of West Fernie, became the bride of Mr. Alexander Joseph Kapalka, third son of Mrs. A. Harry and the late Mr. J. Kapalka, of Coleman.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Coleman.

A little girl of eight years was killed at Innisfail when a shotgun in the hands of a little boy, who didn't know it was loaded, went off.

The Ladies' Aid of the United church will hold a garden party at the Greenhill Apartment grounds on the afternoon of Wednesday, July 6th, from 3 to 6. Tea, strawberries and cream, home cooking table, fish pond for the children, etc. Every body welcome.

PASTORAL CHANGE AT BLAIRMORE UNITED CHURCH

Rev. A. E. Larke concluded six years of ministry at the local United church on Sunday last, and with Mrs. Larke and children left Wednesday afternoon for their new home in Macleod, where Mr. Larke has been assigned charge of Christ United church.

A large audience greeted him on the occasion of his last appearance on Sunday night, when a very appropriate address was given. The junior orchestra, under Conductor J. E. Upton, and the junior girls' choir under leadership of Miss Fraser, assisted in the service, together with a duet by Misses Harmer and May. At the close of the service the congregation sang "Blest be the tie that binds."

It formed a fitting end of what was one of the busiest days during Mr. Larke's pastorate. In the morning he attended the junior Sunday school, at noon performed a marriage ceremony, in the afternoon addressed a meeting in Blairmore and performed no less than thirteen baptisms in Coleman and Blairmore, made several sick calls and finished up the day's work with the well-attended and enjoyable service at night.

Mr. Larke will commence his new work at Macleod on Sunday, while Rev. E. B. Arrol, B.A., formerly of Bon Accord, Alberta, will on the same evening take up the work here. The new pastor, who with his family will arrive in Blairmore Saturday night, will be officially welcomed at the church on Sunday evening at 7:30, and at the forenoon and afternoon Sunday school sessions.

Approximately sixty tons of paper were utilized recently in the production of a special 88-page industrial progress edition of the Vancouver Sun.

BLAIRMORE ENFETE TOMORROW

Owing to Friday, July 1st, being a public holiday and Dominion Day, The Enterprise appears this week under Thursday's date.

Should the weather man act kindly, a busy and enjoyable day is in store for tomorrow.

We understand that some twenty-five teams have entered for the Crows' Nest Pass (Alberta) Mine Rescue and First Aid Association competitions, and that there is a likelihood of the final number of entries exceeding thirty. Considerable interest is being manifested in this part of the day's programme. Entrants from Canmore, Maple Leaf Hillcrest, Bellevue, Blairmore and Coleman will compete.

For the competition, a long wooden tunnel has been constructed near the athletic stadium to represent a coal mine partially wrecked by an explosion. All problems, obstacles and hazards usually found in a wrecked mine will be presented to the competing teams to test their skill and ability to repair the mine sufficiently to permit the injured and entombed miners being brought to safety. Rescue teams will wear gas masks and other regulation equipment.

First Aid contests for both senior and junior teams will be held. The senior teams competing for the McGillivray trophy and prizes, while junior teams will compete for the Coleman First Aid Association cup and prizes.

A staff of fully qualified judges will be present. Prizes will be awarded at a banquet to be held in the evening.

Great interest is also being manifested in the eleventh annual field programme, under auspices of the Blairmore Community Sports Association, starting at the Blairmore athletic stadium at 10 a.m. Programme includes races for boys, girls, men and women, jumps, shot-put, bicycle race, baseball, softball, etc. This programme, it is hoped will conclude about 6:30 p.m.

A grand dance in the Columbus hall at night will conclude the day's events.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Towns, of Regina, were in The Pass yesterday on a visit to The Journal at Coleman and The Enterprise here. Mr. Towns represents the Credit Protectors Limited, interested particularly in The Press.

Arthur Decoux left Blairmore Monday for the Yellowknife district in the north, going by train to Fort McMurray, thence on by airplane. Three or four other boys from Blairmore have been at Yellowknife for some time, including Charles Howe, Charles and Bob Harmer, Tim Murphy and Joseph Howe.

The interior of the United church has been very neatly decorated at the hands of J. B. Harmer, local painter and decorator, who has this week turned his attention to the interior of the manse, which it is hoped will be in readiness for the new pastor and his family upon their arrival Saturday night.

William N. Fraser, D.D.S., son of Mrs. Fraser here, has been notified that he has passed the examinations of the Dominion Dental Council of Canada. Dr. Fraser, who was the winner of the I.O.D.E. bursary, graduated from the University of Alberta in May. He is at present on the staff of the provincial travelling clinic.

Major G. H. Schoof is now at Lake Macdonald, Glacier Park, Montana, where he is directing tourist traffic into Canada under auspices of the Canadian Travel Bureau, of Ottawa, and also boosting the Calgary Stampede, Waterton and the Crows Nest Pass. He plans on being back on patrol duty in Alberta and British Columbia in July.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON (By T. B. Windsor)

Edmonton, June 27.—The political spotlight settled on the movement for united action in establishing a non-sound, progressive government in Alberta during the last week. The first meeting of the Unity Council (Provisional) under the leadership of John I. McFarland, was held Thursday and Friday, with all members being present and unanimity of purpose evident in the proceedings.

The council went definitely on record as standing for absolute autonomy for the constituencies in the selection of their candidates for the legislature, and the management of their own political affairs. The democratic character of the movement was stressed by speaker after speaker during the proceedings, and Mr. McFarland himself declared in his opening speech that the movement to succeed must rest on the basis of the will of the people and sound democratic principles.

Mr. McFarland stated in his declaration of policy clearly in support of a policy of debt settlement, emphasizing the view that the private and public debt situation presented the main problem to be solved by any future government. He placed itself in its declaration of policy clearly in support of a policy of debt settlement, emphasizing the view that the private and public debt situation presented the main problem to be solved by any future government.

It was announced a policy that would foster and advance the unity of Canada as a whole, and not weaken the bonds of confederation. Work of organizing constituency conventions and groups will be carried on largely by individuals interested in the movement, as far as the initial start is concerned.

The general declaration of principles of the Unity movement accepted by the delegates was:

"The things which the government has to do to restore credit, confidence and self-respect to the people of the province must be done in detail, but must provide in principle."

"It must provide for the adjustment of existing private debts on the basis of the equities of the interested parties and ability to pay, and for justice and equity between debtor and creditor in all future transactions."

"Public obligations must be honored, and when this is done, the burden can be lightened by taking advantage of lower current interest rates."

"It must recognize the fact that the payment of taxes is an investment in public service, and that such service is strictly limited by the ability of the taxpayer to pay. Having this in mind, it must be prepared to insist at all times upon the greatest measure of economy, consistent with justice and efficiency in every phase of public activity, including the make-up of the Legislative Assembly and the government itself."

"When the matters have been faced honestly and fairly, the way will have been prepared for a greater measure of public benefit and service than can be realized in any other way."

The Provincial Government, while maintaining rights and fulfilling its responsibilities under the British North America Act, as far as lies within its power, and within its constitutional limits, should work in co-operation and harmony with the Dominion Government, not only in the matters herein enumerated, but in all matters which come up for consideration or action, in order to assist in the building up and fostering of the unity of Canada as a whole."

In its more detailed statement of policy suggested for constituencies, but not enforced arbitrarily, the council favors substantial reduction in members of the legislature, and a lower seasonal indemnity of $1,000 instead of $2,000 received now by Social Credit members; institution of proper business methods in administration. It declared that in settlement of the private debt problem "a moratorium does not solve debt problems, but merely delays solution."

Even Gushul, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Gushul, of Blairmore, has been granted a diploma from the National Art School of Chicago, having completed a course in coloring and miniature oils in photography. Evan has done some excellent work. He and his father have invested in a photo engraving plant for making cuts from their photographs for use in printing and newspaper work.

Alex Walker, president of the Alberta Command of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., stopped over in Coleman on Saturday, enroute from Calgary to attend the convention of ex-servicemen of the legion resident in Saskatchewan, to be held at Santa Barbara. At Coleman he conferred with legion members on matters in connection with establishment of the new club. Mr. Walker was accompanied by Mrs. Walker and Mrs. L. Rose.

British Columbia's first modern automotive plant, the new $550,000 branch assembly plant of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., was officially opened at Vancouver last week.

McKeen Hunter, formerly of Coleman, who has been taking medical treatment in Calgary for the past couple of years, has gone east to spend a couple of months at his old haunts in Springhill, Nova Scotia.

Messrs. Dr. R. McIvor and Herbert Magee, of Stettler, were visitors to Blairmore yesterday. While here they visited a number of old friends, including ourselves and Mr. T. J. Costigan, solicitor.

The marriage took place in New Glasgow, N.S., on June 15th, of Miss Alice, daughter of Mrs. Phelan and the late Thomas Phelan, to Const. John Lawrence Douglas, R.C.M.P., son of Mrs. E. H. Smith, of Eulalia, Alberta, and the late John Henry Douglas.

A dance, under auspices of the West Canadian Colliers Band, is held tonight in the Oddfellows' hall at Bellevue. The band are endeavoring to raise funds to finance their trip to Calgary, where they are to enter the Stampede parade competition.

A large number of Coleman citizens gathered at the Coleman depot on Wednesday afternoon to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. McKinnon on their departure for their new home in Maple Creek, Sask. "Mac" will more than anything else, miss his fishing along the North Fork river and Race Horse creek.

At the Hillcrest pit-head election last week, Edward D'Arcy was re-elected secretary-treasurer of Hillcrest Local of the U.M.W. of A. Ernest Rhys was elected president, to succeed Joseph Norton. Jack Dudley was elected vice-president, with A. Hovan recording secretary. The following were elected pit committee, Jack Norton, Eno Monetegami and John Panek.

H. A. Walter, of Rayley, writing to the Lethbridge Herald, said in part: "Right here I wish to pay tribute to the Social Credit organization. It has developed a lot of little men that were never before heard from into strong defenders of what they think are big salaries—and, of course, they are big salaries to little incompetent men. Social Credit can fool some of the people in Alberta all the time, but it cannot fool any of the people in Saskatchewan any of the time. Hats off to Saskatchewan!"

Gold Where It's Found

"There's gold where you find it."

It's an adage familiar to prospectors who dare the loneliness of the wilds, the heat of the summer and the snow and ice of the winter in the hope of some day striking that elusive vein which shall put an end to their toils. It is not only current among prospectors, but the truth of its assertion has recently been perpetuated in movieland as the title to a popular film.

The adage gives point to many a saga of the hinterlands where men have grown grizzled and grey in a vain search for the precious metal and have finally lain down pick and shovel at life's end, their labors unrewarded. One feels stirred to pity at such stories and is tempted to wonder if they might not have found a better reward if they had pursued some other venture, less romantic but more remunerative. Perhaps they might have done better had they observed and heeded the call of opportunities close at hand instead chasing the rainbow which led them far afield.

Other Opportunities

Similarly one may be led to speculate at times whether some of our governments are not passing up an opportunity which lies at their door to develop to its utmost, latent wealth which might perhaps be readily attainable, or developed to a much greater extent than it has been in recent years; whether or not some of the efforts which are being made to search for hidden riches in remote areas might not return steadily accumulating dividends of greater value in the long run if they were turned to the cultivation of prospects outside our back doors.

Specifically, reference is made to the tourist traffic from south of the international boundary line—a plumb of great value that will soon be ripe for the plucking if the field is cultivated with care and the product is nursed with an eye to encouragement of a greater yield at harvest time.

That there are great potentialities in this comparatively new found industry, and that it would respond readily if the necessary encouragement were given, there can be no doubt, when one reads of the growth it is making with the comparatively small effort that is being made to develop it. One finds, for instance, without any undue effort on the part of the people of this country and their representatives, that it is an industry that is growing rapidly and materially and one is inclined to wonder whether greater efforts would not bring astonishing results, and in a very short time.

For instance, latest statistics, just to hand, reveal that the total estimated expenditures in Canada of tourists from other countries during 1937 amounted to approximately $294,682,000 compared with $251,209,000 in 1936, a gain in one year of $43,383,000 and of this amount a total expenditure of $277,710,000 is attributed by the Department of National Revenue at Ottawa to tourists from the United States.

A Growing Industry

The total for last year is not far short of the value of the Western wheat crop in an average normal year, though it is true that the bulk of the benefit is derived by Eastern Canada and British Columbia. Nevertheless, when this comparatively new gold mine yields an increase of approximately 15 per cent in one year without any great effort being made to develop it, one is warranted in anticipating that more vigorous prosecution of effort would result in increasing production by leaps and bounds.

The figures amply demonstrate that the "ore" is available in much greater quantity and that Americans only need greater encouragement to visit this country in increasing numbers and thus assist in improving our revenues.

If Western Canada is to share to a greater extent in this potential source of wealth it is absolutely essential that more attention be given to the highways of the country. More links are needed between the highways on both sides of the international boundary, and greater efforts should be made to improve and maintain in a high state of efficiency the highways already built.

While it is true that the Canadian west has much of interest to offer to tourists from the south, more could be done to add to the attractions. There is much land in the prairie countries which is not of sufficiently high quality to farm profitably and some of this land could be converted into parks, game preserves and better spots under a program of reforestation.

Publicity Needed

And when more good roads are available and more wider areas are developed as parks and playgrounds, not only for visitors from the south but also for our own people, the necessity of making these attractions well known to prospective tourists by a well directed and co-ordinated publicity program should not be overlooked.

It is true that something has been done in this direction in the past but depression has impeded progress. Now, it appears, however, that the time is approaching when much more can and should be done and the value of such an undertaking will not be hampered one iota if much of the work is undertaken as an unemployment relief measure.

Titled Cleric

Canada's Only Titled Clergyman Leaves For England

Sir Francis Heathcote, Archdeacon of Vancouver, was bound for England, slightly confused over the turn of events that have made him Canada's only titled clergyman.

Leaving Montreal for Quebec, where he boarded the liner Empress of Australia for England, the tall, handsome cleric who came to Canada from England in the 80's, told reporters he had little or no information on his inheritance.

He said his succession to Sir Gilbert Heathcote was bewildering because he had been so far down the line.

"I'm the sixth son of a third son," he said, "and there was also a nephew in between, but they're all dead now."

Sir Francis has no church in Canada, the Vancouver archdeaconate being an endowment of Lady Burdett-Coutts.

Home medicine cabinets have been invented with combination locks to prevent children opening them.

Battle With Bear

Boy Owes His Life To His Two Sisters And A Police Dog

A story comes from Pease, Sask., that Peter Herrington, 14, owes his life to the bravery of his two sisters and to their large police dog. The lad, while hunting some cows, espied a young bear cub behind a log. He stooped over to pick it up only to be struck a terrific blow by the huge paw of the mother bear which had come up behind the lad. The blow was so heavy that the boy was knocked unconscious.

Pete's two sisters, Florence and Marion, witnessed the affair and without any thought of their own safety they, with their dog, rushed forward. The dog made straight for the bear, grabbing it by the throat, and there ensued a battle for life. Meanwhile the girls were able to drag their brother to safety amid the barking of the dog, the growls of the bear and the shrill cries of the cub. The dog eventually drove the bear into the bush.

Pete is proud not only of his sisters and the dog but also of his marks of battle on his neck and back, which he proudly exhibits.

Big Fleet For Russia

Soviets Plan To Greatly Increase Naval Power

Plans intended to make Soviet Russia one of the great naval powers of the world are being pushed and should begin to bear fruit within the next four or five years.

Realizing a great maritime Russia is not possible without a powerful high seas fleet, Soviet leaders have already completed the initial technical work which will give the nation a huge four-arm fleet grouped on the Baltic, White and Black seas and the Pacific ocean.

Equipment is now ready by which the nation should be enabled to manufacture big calibre guns up to 15.75 inches together with powerful protective armament. Foreign technical help will be used in the early stages of the construction period. The last two modern cruisers built at Leningrad were constructed with the aid of Italian engineers.

SELECTED RECIPES

ORANGE CREAM

2 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup white sugar
4 tablespoons St. Lawrence or Durham Corn Starch
3 tablespoons orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated orange and lemon rind mixed
2 eggs separated
1/4 teaspoon salt

Add grated rinds to juices and allow to stand. Scald 1 1/2 cups milk in double boiler. Add sugar and corn starch mixed with remaining cold milk. Stir constantly until thick. Cook 10 minutes stirring frequently. Add beaten egg yolks and salt. Cook 15 minutes. Add strained fruit juice and cool. Pour over custard oranges sweetened to taste. Cover with meringue made of the stiffly beaten egg whites with 2 tablespoons fruit sugar. Brown slightly. Crushed pineapple is a nice addition to oranges.

No Infringement

Motion Picture Company Wins Appeal In Copyright Case

Use of a song title as the name of a motion picture does not constitute an infringement on that song's copyright, the Ontario Court of Appeal ruled.

Accordingly, it allowed the appeal of Twentieth Century Fox Corporation Limited against a judgment holding that company liable to Francis, Day and Hunter, song publishers, for $1,046.35 for using the title, "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," in a picture. Neither words nor music were used.

"The owner of the copyright suffered no wrong by what was done," said Mr. Justice Middleton, for the court. "The idea, if any, of the song's words and its music were not taken."

Just What She Meant

After a church conference the hostesses met and talked about their visitors. Someone asked Mrs. Brown what visitors she had had. "I had two loust preachers," was the reply. "You mean loud preachers. Locusts are those things that eat up everything."

"That's right. I had two of them."

Foreign Spies

Try To Fish Secrets From U.S. Airplane Factories

Foreign agents, trying to fish secrets from American war plane factories, want to know how the United States proposes to operate planes of the future without propellers.

They would like to find out the extent of United States laboratory work in launching tomorrow's war planes, weighing several hundred thousand pounds, by catapult.

They risk their lives to steal the designs for aircraft bomb sights which enable army and navy airmen to reach a target unerringly from an altitude of four miles.

When 18 persons were indicted on charges of espionage, it was learned from confidential sources, it marked only the beginning of a drive against more than one foreign spy ring.

Ramifications of the work of foreign secret intelligence agents, intensified by the international situation and the world rearmament race, are known only to picked government agents. Working with the army and navy, the justice, treasury and other departments of the civil government are protecting devices for national defence with which war planes may not be equipped for another five years.

Fies Like A Fly

Plane Designed By German Professor Has No Propeller

An international record was claimed for Professor Heinrich's "house fly" flying machine which flew 144 miles from Bremen to Hangardorf, near Berlin.

The helicopter, like a fly, can go forward, up, backward, sideward, down or stand still in the air.

The machine has rotating wings driven by an engine in the fuselage. It has no propeller, but uses a changing angle of incidence of the revolving wings for its sideward, backward and forward motion.

Expert At Mopping Up

Seven bank accounts, a $100,000 flat building, $10,000 worth of furniture and a summer home were listed in a New York divorce suit as among the properties held by a former official of the flat janitors' union. That gentleman certainly did a lot of mopping up with his mop, says the Toronto Star.

Radio Plays

Cash Prizes To Be Offered By Broadcasting Corporation

It is the intention of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to encourage Canadian authors to write purely Canadian radio drama, suitable for broadcast purposes, dealing with Canadian themes, and to obtain this sort of material it will offer cash prizes.

This announcement was made by Major Gladstone Murray, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, in an address to the Canadian Authors' Association, on "What Radio Has To Offer the Writer." A semi-independent board of adjudicators would be set up to decide on the material selected.

Major Murray told the association it was essential that radio work be done well. The spoken essay was the most important part of broadcasting. In this connection he referred to a recent successful broadcast of a story by Miss Mary Welles of Regina, "The Last Buffalo Hunt," which was an example of the desired type of material. He also praised the broadcasts of Bruce Hutchison over CBO.

Quality of good radio writing should be its directness, simplicity and good use of Anglo-Saxon synonyms.

Sound of the language in a story broadcast was also a most important feature. Centre of the problem of radio broadcasts was the drama and the most successful so far had been adaptations of stage plays and novels. There had been some writing done purely for the radio, in Canada, but it had been of very distinctive quality. There was a great and rich field for writing for the radio, dealing entirely with Canadian contemporary manners and the interpretation of one section of Canada to another section.

"I place art always in the foreground," said Major Murray. Canada should not be an imitator of foreign methods of broadcasting.

Quincy Caplan, of the Canadian Broadcasting Company, Montreal, and well known producer of plays, said the opportunity offered to write good radio plays had not been taken up seriously by leading Canadian authors.

Mr. Caplan said the radio listener to-day wanted to be entertained, more than educated. Canadian radio authorities were searching for good radio material, could not find enough of it. "It is not necessary to go up in the attic for it," he said. "It is all around you, in the home, on the street, in your every day life."

The Centre Of Unity

Throne Binds British Empire Together States Lord Tweedsmuir

Without the unifying power of the crown, none of the other ties which hold together the great Commonwealth of the British Empire would "bind for long," Lord Tweedsmuir said in an address at Bishop's college convocation in Lennoxville, Que.

"The throne is the centre of empire unity," the governor-general said at the gathering at graduation exercises.

"What is there in common between peoples who represent every race-stock on earth?" he asked. "The differences are differences within a unity. The throne binds the whole empire together and gives cohesion to a vast growth whose ultimate destiny is unpredictable. There are other binding influences, such as the bonds of sentiment and blood and of tradition, but without the unifying power of the crown none of these would bind for long."

"To millions of dark-skinned peoples in Asia and Africa and the islands of the sea, government means the person of the sovereign."

The importance of the British monarch is not in "what he does but in what he is," said the governor-general. "We are a democracy in which the will of the people prevails by means of their elected representatives. But the king represents the people in a deeper sense—abiding continuity of the nation behind all the mutations and vicissitudes of parties."

"Britain has rebelled quite often against kings. But never against kingship."

Really Seeing The Country

Chance Comes With Necessity For Driving New Car Slowly

A friend of ours who bought a new car the other day is having an uneasy experience, states the St. Mary's Journal-Argus. For the first few hundred miles he is driving the car at 20-mile rate. And he says he is really getting acquainted with the countryside as he tours about. He sees what is going on about him and down the concessions and he observes the progress of spring growth. It makes an interesting and informing picture.

On Its Way Out

Straw Hat As Summer Headgear For Men Seems Doomed

It used to be possible to date the beginning of summer by the burgeoning of straw hats. Some fine Monday morning the usual sober gray, blues and blacks would almost all have disappeared, and one swam along a city street in an undulating swell of flat-topped straws, with here and there a Panama drifting like help in the tide. In the afternoon, between 5 and 6 o'clock, there would be a heavy thunder shower. As the season passed, the hats grew dingier. Butterflies and goldenrod adorned the meadows, a few leaves were seen to have turned, and hat owners wondered if another cleaning would be necessary before the winds of autumn brought down the first premonitory flutter of felts and derbies. This year, however, felts have remained firm, and in some cases active, while straws have been sluggish.

Without taking sides in any controversy that may be brewing between the felt hat and the straw hat, one may regret this change. The straw hat, after all, demanded only a brief three months of life. It was not pretentious. The flat-topped sailor type gladdened many a sad heart when it blew off somebody else's head and went floating down "the street." It made a trinket of commoners all look alike, but their wives were generally able to get them sorted out. Is the straw hat doomed? Let us hope not.—New York Times.

Should Use Better Seed

Records Would Indicate Average Farmer Sows Indifferent Quality

Canadian farmers should take fuller advantage of the country's remarkable facilities for use of certified wheat seed, Dr. G. S. H. Barton, federal deputy minister of agriculture, told the Canadian Seed Growers' Association at Guelph, Ont.

From 10 bushels of certified seed there can be produced in five years 7,500,000 bushels of certified seed, the official said. Yet much potential registered and certified seed is being sold on the market.

Canada's seed requirements in wheat, oats, barley, rye, peas, beans and buckwheat approximate 70,000,000 bushels annually. Of the 70,000,000 bushels, only one per cent of registered seed grain and less than three per cent of certified seed grain were available this year.

"Seed drill surveys, crop testing records and other sources of information indicate that the average farmer sows indifferent quality and mostly noncertified grain," Dr. Barton said.

A Hand-Printed Bible

Swede Has Completed Work He Started Seven Years Ago

After seven years' work, Gustaf Wenlund, a draughtsman employed by the Swedish railway company, has completed his own Bible having drawn each of the 4,000,000 letters by hand. He started work on February 12, 1931. Each of the 1,612 pages took him between two and a half and three hours. Stockholm reports he has insured it for $5,000.

FORMAL DIVISION TERMINATES THE BUDGET DEBATE

Ottawa.—After one of the shortest budget debates in history, the King government was victorious on three formal divisions of the House of Commons, all in connection with the motion to resolve the house into committee to consider details of the budget.

Only one Liberal member, Harry Leader, of Portage la Prairie, voted against the annual financial statement which made no changes in tariffs and no changes in taxation except to exempt certain commodities, chiefly building materials, from the sales tax.

While the Liberals voted solidly, with the exception of Mr. Leader, the opposition groups lined up on different sides on the three divisions.

A C.C.F. amendment regretting failure to lower tariffs in accord with the 1919 Liberal platform, was defeated by 169 to 23. Voting for the amendment were the C.C.F. members, Miss Agnes Macphail (U.F.O. Labor, Grey-Bruce), the Social Credit group and Mr. Leader. Voting against it were the Liberals, the Conservatives, A. W. Neil (Ind., Comox-Alberni), J. S. Taylor (Ind., Nanaimo), and Hon. H. H. Stevens (Recom, Kootenai).

A Conservative amendment regretting failure of the budget to announce a reduction in taxation was defeated by 136 to 53. Voting for the amendment were all the Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit members, Miss Macphail and Mr. Stevens. Voting against it were the Liberals, with the exception of Mr. Leader, who did not vote, Mr. Neil and Mr. Taylor.

Conservatives then called for a formal division on the main motion, and on this the opposition parties again united. The vote was 135 to 52. Mr. Leader voted with the opposition.

Finance Minister Charles Dunning, who presented the budget a week ago, was not present for the vote as he was taken ill and confined to his home. Absent also was Hon. Earl Lawson (Conn., York South) who started the debate by moving the Conservative amendment as chief opposition financial critic.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, just before the vote, explained his party could not support the C.C.F. amendment because it would, not sorry, the Liberal party had failed to carry out its tariff policies.

He congratulated the Liberals on having the courage to disregard their election promises when they realized to fulfill them would mean disaster to the country.

Mr. Bennett seemed anxious to dissociate himself from the C.C.F. group, said Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, prime minister. That group had merely succeeded in lining itself up with the Conservatives, as the adoption of their motion would also enforce the Conservative motion.

It was clear there was one great Conservative party in Canada although it was divided into two parts, one called Liberal, said Miss Macphail.

Efforts of the United States to secure a part of the markets now served by the Canadian products in the United Kingdom should be permitted to succeed, Hon. C. H. Cahan, former Conservative secretary of state, told the house. He warned the government against one-sided concessions to the United States in the trade treaty now under discussion, at Washington.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, veteran Liberal member for Melville, urged creation of a banking commission which would protect the public against the arbitrary closing of branch banks.

While Mr. Cahan congratulated the government on pursuing a more realistic tariff policy than formerly, a western Liberal, Dr. Furry Fleming, of Humboldt, complained bitterly at the absence of tariff reductions in the budget. It was only after long thought and against his inclination that he had decided to vote for the budget because he could not support either the Conservative or C.C.F. amendments.

Valuable Book Sold

London.—A 212-year-old copy of "Olliver's Travels" was sold at auction to the Rosenbach Company of New York for $12,500. The volume was a part of the library of the late Lord Darnley.

Six Aviators Killed

London.—Six Royal Air Force flyers were killed when two torpedo bombers plunged into the sea during night maneuvers off Swettenham, Federated Malay States, the air ministry announced.

Queen's Mother Dies

Countess of Strathmore, Mother Of Queen Elizabeth, Dies At Her London Home

London.—The Countess of Strathmore, mother of Queen Elizabeth, died at her London home. She was 76.

Lady Strathmore married the 14th Earl of Strathmore and Kinghorne 54 years ago. She was formerly Miss Nina Cavendish-Bentinck, a member of the family of the Duke of Portland.

The King, who returned from Weymouth where he attended home fleet manoeuvres, and the queen were at the bedside. The queen had remained in London to be near her mother. Lord Strathmore also was present.

A second daughter, Lady Rose Leveson Gower, flew to London from the Isle of Man, and also was present when Lady Strathmore died.

When the engagement of their daughter, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, was announced to the then Duke of York, the earl remarked it was a "true love match" since the Strathmores never had aspired to court circles.

The countess was said to have been happiest when caring for Glamis castle, their Scottish seat where Macbeth is said to have murdered Duncan.

The king and queen, who had been in constant touch with the Strathmore residence, Cumberland Mansions, returned to Buckingham palace shortly after her death.

The Earl of Strathmore, who at 83 is tall and thin, happened in rough tweeds pottering about his 24,700 acres, and the countess always lived in a retiring manner, most of the time at Glamis castle.

Houses For Mining Town

Nova Scotia Is Building Small Settlement Under Co-operative Plan

Halifax.—A venture in co-operative housing was launched for the coal-mining town of Reserve by the Nova Scotia housing commission. The project, believed the first of its kind in Canada, calls for construction of a miniature community on a large block of land at the Cape Breton island town. Financed by long-term loans through the commission, the scheme will start off with 11 houses, each with a garden plot.

Laid out on modern lines, the little settlement will have a parkway running through the property and a central area for use as a community garden and tree plot. There will be a large playground for children. Monthly payments for interest and amortization will be exceptionally low and well within the means of the families concerned.

Canada's Sheep Industry

Support Of Industry By Consumers Urged By Speaker

Calgary.—Support of Canada's sheep industry by consumers is urged in articles "made with pure virgin fleece wool rather than shoddy," was urged by W. H. J. Tisdale, of Toronto, assistant general manager of Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Limited.

He told members of a service club that Canada's sheep population had not increased since 1867, but the number in Australia was five times as great as in 1860.

"The sheep industry has brought Australia back from the depths of depression more than once," he added.

First One In Century

Sailor Being Tried For Murder Aboard British Warship

Hong Kong.—The first trial for murder aboard a British warship in a century opened when Ordinary Seaman Edwin Dwyer, 19, pleaded not guilty before judge and jury to the murder of Leading Seaman Robert Dickinson, 29, aboard the cruiser Dorsetshire off Australia May 2.

The crown alleges Dwyer shot Dickinson after the latter discovered an offence Dwyer had committed.

Many Delegates Expected

Ottawa.—Acceptances from more than 1,000 delegates to the National Conservative convention here July 5, 6 and 7 have already been received from all parts of Canada. John R. MacNicol, joint convention chairman, said at least 1,500 delegates are expected, with several hundred visitors.

Third Picture Finished

North Bay, Ont.—The Dismal quintuplets have finished their third motion picture and the film company location unit left for the south, with director-pleasing performances by the youngsters recorded on film. The company shot 1,000 feet of film during two weeks.

Wants Militia Act Revised

Parliamentary Control Is Sought By Member For B.C.

Ottawa.—Revision of the militia act to establish parliamentary control over the command of Canadian forces, the imposition of compulsory service and the despatch of troops outside Canada beyond question of doubt was urged in the House of Commons by Grant Macneil (C.C.F., Vancouver North).

He moved second reading of his bill to amend the militia act which has stood on the order paper for some time along with another bill of a similar character to amend the naval service act.

As the law now stands, Mr. Macneil claimed, conscription could be established and troops could be sent overseas without consent of parliament.

(Leaders of the government, including Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Conservative Leader R. B. Bennett when prime minister, have said this is not so.)

THE SOLUTION OF JOBLESS PROBLEM ONE FOR OTTAWA

Vancouver.—Financial assistance of the federal government was essential to any solution of transient unemployed and indigent problems, W. R. Bone, social services administrator for Vancouver, told delegates to the Canadian conference on social work here.

Bone said there must be registration, not only of the unemployed and unemployables, but of the entire population of Canada so every person might be identified with the province or locality in which he was eligible for such social services as were available.

"We should also look nearer home to see whether our junior governmental bodies are not, partially responsible for the present problem of 'dritters,'" he said, adding that many municipalities, unable to meet their relief problems, took a "short cut" by assisting individuals and families to move elsewhere on the chance they might do better in a new location.

Mr. Bone urged federal recognition of the transient problem as not a passing phase but a "problem to be met only by concerted action and thorough regulation."

There should be co-operation between provinces for enforcement of uniform domicile regulations, to remove as far as possible the inducement to move by adopting "basic welfare allowances and services."

Field Has Been Opened

Empire Exchange Of Women Reporters Is Now Possible

Winnipeg.—Empire exchange of women reporters has been brought within reach of members of the Canadian Women's Press Club, Miss Isabel Armstrong, president, told delegates at the triennial convention here. The Empire Press Union has notified the club that the empire field was open to women reporters for exchange as well as men. Age limit for interchange of reporters is 35. The problem now was billets in the Old Country and overseas dominions, Miss Armstrong said.

OFF TO ENGLAND AFTER SPEED BOAT HONOURS

Hoping to lift the Duke of York's Trophy and thereby create a precedent by being the first Canadians to win this international speed-boat trophy, two young Canadians, Charles Wheaton, left, of Toronto, and R. J. McNicoll of Quebec, sailed from Quebec on the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Australia."

Their craft were also on board, and they are named "Shadow II" and "Miss Quebec III."

Insists On Amendment

Senate's Stand On Farmers Creditors Act Causes Stalemate

Ottawa.—The senate and the house of commons became stalemated on the act amending the Farmers Creditors Arrangement Act. An amendment to the measure made by the senate was rejected by the commons; but the upper house insists on its amendment, and the matter rests at that for the time being.

Customary procedure now is for the commons to ask for conference with the senate so attempts may be made to iron out the difficulty.

The bone of contention between the two houses is the clause the senate inserted into the bill to automatically terminate the Farmers Creditors Arrangement Act in all provinces except Alberta and Saskatchewan at the end of the present year.

The commons reason for rejecting this was that "it would cause hardship in other provinces." The senate disagreed with the commons on that ground, holding "there is no further necessity for the act in any of the provinces after Dec. 31, 1938."

Wheat Marketings

Canadian Wheat In Store Shows Heavy Decrease

Ottawa.—Canadian wheat in store for the week ended June 17 decreased 1,510,420 bushels from the previous week and 20,629,933 from the corresponding week a year ago, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported. The amount in store was reported at 27,664,272 bushels against 29,174,892 the previous week and 45,294,505 for the week ended June 18, 1937. Canadian wheat in the United States totalled 927,000 bushels against 892,000 and 5,944,294.

Wheat marketings in the prairie provinces for the week ended June 17 totalled 806,455 bushels compared with 743,591 the previous week and 701,993 during the corresponding week a year ago.

Receipts by provinces with the figures for the same week last year in brackets: Manitoba, 111,435 bushels (95,974); Saskatchewan, 314,750 (382,508); Alberta, 380,260 (223,641).

Sensational Newspapers

Speaker Says That The Public Demands Details Of Crimes

Winnipeg.—If newspapers become sensational it is because the public demands details of crimes and tragedies, Label Ross, of the New York Herald Tribune, told a banquet audience.

The banquet was tendered members of the Canadian Women's Press Club, holding their triennial convention, by the Manitoba government.

The Herald Tribune writer said in Europe the American press is considered a hectic institution which runs to headlines, improper invasion of private life and persecution of front page figures.

"The flight of the Lindberghs from their native country is the perfect argument in support of this theory and there seems to be no defence in this particular case," she added. "But to show you the public was really the driving force in this particular case—the Herald Tribune felt that the humanities were so involved in this frightful kidnapping that they would refuse to print anything about the story at all except a five-line box each day, stating just that there were no new developments."

"We did this for a week but we simply couldn't keep it up. The paper was flooded with calls, letters and protests. Our readers insisted on getting all the facts."

MORE BRITISH SHIPS ARE SUNK BY BOMBERS

Valencia.—Shortly after two British freighters were sunk by an aerial raider outside Valencia harbor, two new incidents involving British merchantmen were reported.

The British merchantman Gloxina, 3,336 tons, was said to have been attacked at sea, after leaving Valencia.

The freighter African Trader, according to wireless conversation overheard by ships in Valencia harbor, was flown over by an insurgent plane and instructed to proceed to Palma, insurgent base in the Balearic islands, or to take the consequences.

The African Trader—which had been damaged by Spanish insurgent warships last autumn while proceeding out of Bay of Biscay port, sent out a call for help picked up by the British destroyer Imogen. The Imogen sped to the African Trader's aid.

The seaplane was believed to have disappeared.

The Thorpenes, 4,789 tons, shattered by an aerial torpedo, went down with 7,000 tons of grain. The Sunjion, 3,054 tons, formerly of Greek registry, was struck by incendiary and explosive bombs, burned for six hours and sank.

A British destroyer was ordered to remove the sailors, stranded here. One Chinese, aboard the Thorpenes, was the only life lost.

The attacking seaplane used a new type aerial torpedo launched almost at water level by the plane skimming the sea, thus bringing the torpedo to tremendous force into the side of the ship.

These attacks brought to 54 the total of air attacks on British ships since the Spanish war started—nearly half in the last three months.

The Thorpenes was pierced by the explosive missiles and lurched and sank within five minutes in 60 feet of water.

Chief Officer Norman Goster of Southampton managed to get away in one boat with 25 members of the crew. The captain, William Kermode, and eight others jumped into the sea.

The sea plane returned later and dropped explosive and incendiary bombs on the 3,054-ton freighter Sunjion, firing her cargo. Flames from the ship lighted up the whole roads.

Captain Kermode swam a mile in his lifebelt to the Sunjion which put out a boat to help rescue some of the Thorpenes' crew.

The Thorpenes' non-intervention observer, Jean de Mersuay of Paris, said the raider barely cleared the British warships before losing the torpedo which crashed into the engine room and tore a huge hole in the side of the ship.

It was the second attack on the Thorpenes during the Spanish civil war. She was bombed Jan. 20 in Tarragona harbor and four members of her crew killed.

The attack by the lone raider was similar to others in the recent series of attacks on British ships. The captain declared it was a "deliberate and premeditated attack to sink a British ship anchored at sea."

SUSPECTED SPY WAS WORKING IN PLANE FACTORY

Ottawa.—A suspected German spy, linked with an espionage ring investigated in New York city, was found working in an aircraft factory in Montreal four or five weeks ago, it was disclosed here.

A wall of secrecy was thrown around the disclosure by Royal Canadian Mounted Police and officials of the department of national defence.

It was impossible to determine whether the man had slipped the country, whether he was under arrest, whether he was under indictment or arrest in the American investigation, or even his name.

The R.C.M.P. has been co-operating closely with American G-men in the espionage investigation in New York so that Canada may not become a haven from which spies might operate in collecting information on United States armament plans.

As far as Canadian war plans are concerned, with the exception of suspected Japanese espionage on the Pacific coast, The Canadian Press learned the government takes the attitude nothing is being done which could not be exposed to the public.

It could not be determined where the intelligence division of the department of national defence received the tip about the Montreal aircraft worker, but the American and British governments co-operated in the investigation in New York and it was assumed either one of them supplied it.

It was not known whether the man spotted in Montreal was one of the 15 under indictment in New York or whether he was on the outer fringe of the espionage ring.

It was the first spy incident coming to light in Ottawa for years.

New York—in a court tilt without precedent, the United States government battled to prevent one of its former ace agents from publishing what was advertised as the "inside story" of a German espionage ring.

Federal Judge Murray Hulbert reserved decision on the government's application for an order restraining the New York Post from publishing a series of articles by Leon G. Turrou, who resigned as special agent of the department of justice. The temporary restraining order was continued.

Turrou, who helped solve the Lindbergh kidnap-murder, was the agent chiefly responsible for the recent indictment of 18 persons, including 14 new in Germany, on espionage charges.

Judge Hulbert agreed with counsel that the case was without precedent.

"It is not so much a question of freedom of the press," said the court, "but whether persons engaged by the government to perform an act can publish information obtained by that act."

By Consent Of People

Former Woman Labor Minister Predicts Socialist Government For Britain

Vancouver.—Rt. Hon. Margaret Bondfield, former labor minister in the British cabinet, said in an address here she "believed" a socialist government would take power in Great Britain "within a decade."

Speaking before the Canadian conference on social work here, Miss Bondfield said it was her opinion the socialist state would not come by violent revolution, but "by the consent of the governed through the maintenance of the principles of free speech; the right of public meeting and a free press."

"But," she continued, "if these healthy changes of democratic expression are thwarted or abused by vested interests on either side, by groups of people in a community who refuse to face the facts of modern industrialism, then the morbid story of revolution, repression and reaction may come even to our democratic countries."

While improvement and extension of social services was being urged, the human problem of the right use of leisure had to be considered.

"The leisure thrust into the world by the improvement of productive processes has appeared far too many people under the dead form of purposeless idleness," Miss Bondfield said.

REBUFF FOR WILLIAM ABERHART AND SOCIAL CREDIT

The recent election in Saskatchewan at least proved one thing—that after three years of experiment, Social Credit has failed to impress the people of Western Canada as a remedy for the economic and political ills, imaginary or real, of this Dominion.

The invasion of Saskatchewan by Alberta's Premier William Aberhart and supporters received a very sharp and decided rebuff at the polls. With some thirty-nine Social Credit candidates in the field, the party was successful in winning only two seats—and these with very slim majorities. Many candidates lost their deposit.

It would be only natural to suppose that of all the provinces Saskatchewan, having experienced successive years of bitter adversity through drought and crop failures, would be the one most likely to succumb to the blandishments and visionary promises of the portly prophet from Alberta. And it is no secret that in view of conditions in the wheat-growing province, Eastern Canada followed the Saskatchewan election with no little anxiety.

The decision of the electorate to stick to the more orthodox form of government has done much to restore the confidence of investors in Western Canada.

Three years ago Social Credit was swept into power in Alberta, largely on the strength of promises of a monthly basic dividend of $25, (which apparently was to be pulled out of a hat somewhat like the conjurer's rabbit) and drastic monetary reforms. It is significant that Albertans have yet to see their first provincial dividend cheques, and much of their government's legislation has been turned back at Ottawa as unconstitutional.

It would appear the Social Credit experiment in Alberta, has proved a dismal failure, and it is doubtful whether it will survive another election. This, however, depends upon the unity existing among the rank and file of other established parties. It is evident that Social Credit is not likely to spread to other provinces of the West—Cranbrook Courier.

The Alberta government defaulted its own bonds, but took full payment of $453,250, representing annual instalment and five per cent interest, from the Alberta Wheat Pool. The bonds were issued by the province to offset over-payments made on the 1929 crop. No reduction of interest was even suggested from the original specified rate.

Ottawa's action in disallowing the Alberta Home Owners' Security Act and the Securities Tax Act was so patently its duty and so generally anticipated that it can be a surprise to no one, and least of all to Premier Aberhart and his government. Indeed, if there is any justifiable criticism, it is of the delay there has been in reaching the decision. The two acts, and with them the act to Amend the Limitation of Actions Act, on which Ottawa still reserves judgment, are so crude in their conception and objectives, so indecently arbitrary in their denial of the elementary rights of citizenship, and so contemptuous of Confederation as to imply that the people who mould suffer them fero.

THE CALGARY STAMPEDE

Bigger and Better Programme Than Ever, July 11th to 16th

Rated as one of the most spectacular and colorful shows of its kind on the continent, the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede will open its 53rd annual event Monday, July 11th and continuing to Saturday, July 16th, with an extra day's races, Saturday, July 9th. This world-famous Western show annually attracts well over 20,000 people from all over Canada and the United States. This year's programme is destined to outshine all other previous shows, both in entertainment and educational value.

The Stampede proper will take place every afternoon in front of the grandstand. Between five and six hundred entries, including many of the world's greatest riders, will participate. Perhaps the most thrilling feature of the Stampede will be the trials for the Canadian and North American bucking horse championships, followed by wild steer riding, wild cow milking, steer and calf roping contests. Each and every event will hold the audience spellbound. The wild steer decorating contests always win rounds of approval as well as the Indian races that are run each evening.

Paralleling the Stampede in importance and interest will be the thousands of industrial and domestic art exhibits featured in the show buildings on the grounds. This great show is headlined by the attendance of the continent's finest livestock. Farmers and urban patrons alike will be keenly interested in this fine showing of stock. Friday morning, in conjunction with the children's show, the livestock review will take place in front of the grandstand. Special valuable prizes will be distributed to the children attending. Twelve, to fifteen thousand patrons attend this feature each year.

This year the horse-racing meet opens Saturday, July 9th, and will continue Monday to Saturday, July 16th. Seven races will be run off each day. Some of the continent's famous thoroughbreds will be here for the meet.

A paragraph in a city daily referring to Mr. and Mrs. Chet Hagen sang two duets, "What a Friend Thou Art to Me," and "Out of Darkness Into Light," while Cyril Hutchinson, Institute secretary, sang the hymn, "I Am Hiding in Thee," and Rev. E. L. J. Hughes said the prayers at the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute on Sunday afternoon last, was appropriately headed. "MANY VICTIMIZED."

Giving additional evidence to the widespread belief that this country is one of frequent multiple births, three youngsters were born to a Brooks mother on July 17th. The triplet calves, two boys and a girl, were born several hours apart and are all normal, healthy animals. The infants' guardian has not yet decided whether to put them on show as a tourist attraction or fatten them for market.—Brooks Bulletin.

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

Miss Gladys Knowles and Master Gary Ward spent the week end visiting in Calgary.

Misses Ida Bolettine, Inis Bocca and Mary Whitney, all of Salt Lake City, Utah, spent several days visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. Ruymacker and Mr. and Mrs. J. Bovio.

The home of Mrs. G. Mattson, was the scene of much merriment on Monday evening, when about thirty friends gathered at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Annie Bagan, bride-elect of July. The early part of the evening was spent at bingo, following which a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess. The guest of honor was then presented with many beautiful and useful gifts, for which she thanked her assembled friends most graciously.

The service in the United church on Sunday evening was one of song, consisting of duets, solos, male chorus and choir selections. The service was very well attended, and the audience was specially pleased with a vocal solo, entitled "My Prayer," very nicely sung by Master Gobion Hutton. The choir is now disbanded till September.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson, accompanied by his uncle and Miss Lillian Watson, of Palo Alto, California, are visiting Mrs. Watson's mother here. Mr. and Mrs. L. Vieweger, of Wayways, are visiting at Mrs. Vieweger's former home here, Mr. and Mrs. G. Chiarovano.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. M. Millar, of Calgary, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Millar.

A very delightful farewell party was held in the Catholic hall last Friday evening, in honor of Mrs. Louisa Fumagalli, who is leaving shortly. Whist and bingo were played, and Mrs. Fumagalli was recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Webster and family were week-end visitors to their home in Mountain View.

Mr. J. M. Mackie, managing director of the Hillcrest Collieries Ltd., and Mr. Frank T. Harquell, liquidator, of Montreal, are business visitors here.

The Hillcrest senior baseball team defeated Elk Valley Senators 11-2 in a league game on Thursday of last week.

A pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. Father O'Dea at Beaver Mines on Saturday last, when Mary Zerowski, of Beaver Mines, became the bride of Armand Bianchini, of Hillcrest. Following a honeymoon spent at Banff, the young couple will take up residence in Hillcrest.

Robert Cruickshank has accepted the position of principal of the Staveley high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Amphlett and son were motor visitors to Glacier National Park on Sunday last.

Miss Lorna Balkwell left by train Saturday for Yakh, B.C., where she will spend the summer months with her grandparents.

Cliff Richards, of Vancouver, is visiting at the home of his parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Cruickshank and Miss B. Sellen journeyed over the Logan Pass highway on Sunday last by motor.

The pupils of Grade II, held a very delightful concert in their classroom on Friday afternoon, during which the pupils and their teacher, Miss B. Davies, presented Miss H. Westrup, Grade I teacher, with a beautiful cut-glass and silver butter dish.

J. M. ("Jack") Windsor recently addressed the Rotarians at Cranbrook on banking history. Mr. Windsor was former manager of the Union Bank and the Royal Bank at Blaimore, later at High River, and at present manager of the Royal Bank of Canada at Cranbrook. Mr. Windsor reviewed banking from its earliest conception, going back to the days of the Halifax Banking Company, which was the beginning of banking in the early days of the Maritimes.

WILL CURB SPEED

ALBERTA BUSES

Action to curb the speed of passenger buses operating on Alberta highways has been taken by the Alberta Motor Association.

As a result of complaints voiced at a recent meeting of provincial directors of the A.M.A., the matter is to be brought to the attention of the highway traffic board.

One director drew attention to buses travelling at 50 and 60 miles per hour, showering cars with gravel as a result, while in dry weather these speeding vehicles created so much dust that driving visibility was affected for some time after the bus had passed.

During the discussion it was suggested that some bus drivers kept entirely too close to the centre of the highway, causing other motorists to be crowded off the road unnecessarily.

Directors agreed that in the interests of safe driving conditions something would have to be done to check the bus driver whose tendencies were those of the "road hog." While it was recognized that all bus drivers were not guilty of such practices, some companies having instructed their drivers to show every possible courtesy on the highway, it was felt that prompt action was warranted to avoid complaints and bring about safer conditions for motorists.

Aberhart may consider himself a prophet, but he never did come so near correct as the prophecies of Saskatchewan newspaper editors on the recent election.

Sayings of great men: "I am sorry for Saskatchewan's sake that the Social Credit party did not do better, but I am by no means disappointed."—Premier William Aberhart.

If it were not so serious, the people could afford to be amused when

BUYING WISELY

The ever increasing popularity and wide acceptance of ALBERTA BEERS is the result of critical consideration of merit preceding the purchase of products... in other words—"BUYING WISELY." People know from personal experience that Alberta's five brands are the finest beer that modern methods can produce.

They know that in its manufacture only the choicest hops and malt are used. They know the utmost care and skill is exercised in their control. Then, too, ALBERTA BEERS are thoroughly aged. MAKE YOUR NEXT ORDER ALBERTA BEER.

Mr. Aberhart trots out his patriarchs, just like the little boy marshals his tin soldiers, among whom are generals, colonels and what not. However, Pharaoh's daughter is out strolling at the present time, and here is hoping that she will discover a Moses in the Alberta bullrushes, who will really lead the Albertans out of the bondage of Aberhart Social Credit into the promised land of sane, honest, progressive administration of the people's affairs.—Drumheller Review.

"Canada and the United States can help by translating the lessons of their long peace experience, with its subordination of grievance to compromise, into concrete diplomatic machinery, so that other nations may follow suit," declared Dr. James T. Shotwell, director of the division of economics and history, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. "Canadian-American relations," he said, "present a perfect picture of the practical working of the Kellogg Peace Pact."

ALBERTA PRO-BATING PLAN GIVES OIL MEN EQUALITY OF MARKET

In contrast with experience in other new oil fields, producers in the Turner Valley have at all times enjoyed a good market at fair prices for their production. Of course the price was reduced somewhat when it became necessary to expand the market for Turner Valley crude. This had to be done to cover the additional carriage charges entailed by moving the oil further afield. Pipe lines, railroads and refiners shared the reduction with the producers. The consumer benefited by substantially lower prices for products.

It was inevitable that the refiner could not immediately buy all the oil the Turner Valley could produce. So purchases were pro-rated to the needs of the market, but at all times every producer could enjoy his fair share of the market at a fair price.

Contrast this condition with Montana, where, according to F. G. Cottle, chief auditor of the Alberta Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, who studied the situation in that state, some wells were operating at capacity and others were completely shut in because they had no market. This resulted in unstable conditions, making it possible to buy crude oil at prices much lower than are being paid to the Canadian producers.

No such situation was allowed to develop in Alberta. [8]

Edmonton will observe a civic holiday on Monday, August 1st.

Up in Stavelly, Alberta, where they have a law requiring cats to be belled, some residents became very much annoyed at night time. Recently a woman became so annoyed at about midnight that she picked up a rifle. The bullet hit the bell, driving it into the feline's interior. Now the woman is facing two charges, one preferred by the owner for the loss of the cat; the other preferred by the town, seeking value for the loss of the bell.

Aberhart's answer to the many complaints about the monopoly of the radio air by him on Sunday afternoons is "turn the dial." But why should a person be compelled to turn the dial and accept perhaps an American programme, when something useful and entertaining should be coming out from our stations—even something of a sacred or religious character on Sunday afternoons? If his Sunday programmes are so popular to radio fans, why does he have to keep begging for funds to maintain them.

Empire Exhibition to Make 1938 Scotland's Year

A last year was England's, with Coronation, and France's, with the Paris Exposition, so 1938 will be all Scotland's and mostly Glasgow's, with the great Empire Exhibition which King George will open in the Scottish metropolis on May 3.

Weekly throughout the summer Canadian Pacific liners will land visitors by the hundred at the famed Tail of the Bank, almost within sight of the exhibition grounds in Bellahouston Park. Not only will they see the exhibition, but the majority of cases these visitors attracted to Scotland by the big show will go on from there to see much of the rest of Scotland. Appropriately enough this year has been chosen by the Canadian Scot's Re-Union for one of their periodical tours to the homeland. They will sail in a large party in the Duchess of Richmond from Montreal on July 8.

In the natural beauty of Bellahouston Park, visitors will find the greatest show of Empire engineering and industry ever gathered into one place. Modernistic pavilions will house the exhibits of every Dominion and there will be palaces of engineering, the arts, industry, to mention but a few. Tree-top restaurants, built on stilts, a 300 foot observation tower atop the central hill, spacious walks and gardens and amusements galore will provide relaxation for the visitors. Color will be a striking feature. Pavilions will be colored, there will be

FINANCE AT LARGE

Correspondence just released by T. D'Arcy Leonard, K.C., general counsel of the Dominion Mortgage & Investments Association, shows that the premier of Alberta was definitely offered the same kind of settlement for the debtors of his province that in Saskatchewan and Manitoba resulted in wiping out $30 millions in eighteen months from the total debt of borrowers. The association represented in this offer all the life insurance and trust and loan companies holding mortgages in the prairie provinces, and the correspondence shows that Hon. William Aberhart did not even answer the first letter making the offer in February, 1937. The offer was repeated twice, and it is still open, if his ministers are really anxious to help the farmers. The farmers are being approached, in any event, by the companies, but the whole matter could be adjusted more quickly and acceptably to all if experienced ministers tried to facilitate debt adjustment on a fair basis, which could be carried out.

The previous association proposal was to reduce all interest at a 6 per cent rate and to make concessions on all arrears of interest which had become unduly large owing to crop failures or by virtue of circumstances beyond control of the borrowers. Special treatment was offered for districts which have suffered most severely. But Mr. Aberhart, when he finally did briefly acknowledge the receipt of the letter, found the proposals "not at all satisfactory."

The proposal would have provided a plan which would take every farm mortgage out of default and permit renewal on terms which would give debtors every reasonable prospect of being able to pay obligations as they mature.

This is an offer worthy the attention of any body of honest men, and distinctly in the interests of the province. It would not seem "satisfactory" to any minister who labors under the idea that the printing press could provide the wherewithal in money to take care of all these debts and that in the meantime repudiation, cancellation and penalties, with the aid of a docile majority in the Aberhart legislature, would rid the farmers of the debt without paying anything. —Wellington Jeffers, financial editor of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

It is reported that Premier Aberhart expects to visit his constituency next month. Won't they accord him a welcome!

It is a funny thing that both Jim Gardner and Bill Aberhart come from Huron County, Ontario. And, oh, what a difference in the two!

The Oddfellows and Rebekahs of Cranbrook district took in the international picnic near Eureka, Montana, on Sunday, June 26th. Under this international plan, Oddfellows and Rebekahs from Canada would visit States points for gatherings, and in return members of States lodges bordering on the international boundary would join with Canadians on this side.

Bombing Horrors

Degeneration of Civilization May Result From Brutal Tactics

The disasters that have so far occurred in China and in Spain are but miniatures of what can be done by two modern nations of equal strength and equal ferocity.

Any one so foolish as to think they are of little importance because China, and even Spain, are far away, should reflect that the fate of Chinese and Spaniards to-day may be, on a more horrible scale, his to-morrow. And if he thinks that at least it does not concern him as yet, he should realize that the air raids on the cities of Spain and of China already mean that the science and material advances which have been Europe's gift to the world have degenerated into weapons of destruction.

No good European citizen feels free of the shame implicit in the events of the last week. A civilization, to-day common to the whole world, that allows such crimes to proceed unchecked deserves to perish, and inevitably will.—London Spectator.

Ready To Make Proposals

United States Government Wants To Secure World Disarmament

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons that the United States government had indicated it was preparing to make definite proposals to secure world disarmament.

Asked by Arthur Henderson, Labor, if Great Britain were willing to "join with the United States government in making definite proposals with a view to securing a halt in the arms race," Mr. Chamberlain replied tersely:

"The United States government have suggested they are going to make an attempt."

The prime minister refused to elaborate on this brief statement.

Reports Less Crime

The Pas, Manitoba, Not Troubled With Criminals

There has been no serious crime in The Pas, gateway to northern Manitoba's mining industry since 1929, and the very isolation of the town from major centres of population has been an important factor in producing that situation, according to Chief C. M. Coghill, formerly of the Manitoba Provincial Police, and chief of police at The Pas since 1929.

Important also in keeping crime at a low ebb at The Pas has been the fine co-operation given police officers by the 3,700 inhabitants, said Chief Coghill, attending the annual convention of the Chief Constables Association of Canada at Edmonton.

Need Welfare Workers

Official of Canadian Council Says Problem Increasing Acute

Miss Margaret Beaudry, of Ottawa, assistant to the director of the Canadian Welfare Council, told the sixth Dominion conference on social work in Vancouver that the entire development of social services in Canada was "threatened by the lack of competent personnel for their staffing."

She said the personnel problem had become more acute "with the rapidity of change in our developing welfare programs." Assurance was required that there would be a continuous supply of qualified workers—trained, experienced men and women, of proven competence and of mature and stable judgment.

"The problem is a real one," she said. "All social work is marking time before it, and the answer must rest in part with the training schools, in part with the well-established agencies in our older centres, and in part with the members of the profession in equipping themselves for these pioneering and responsible parts in public service and in the voluntary agencies."

Youth Hostel Came To Canada

Plan To Extend Movement From Maritime To British Columbia

New impetus is being given to hiking in Canada by a movement known as the Youth Hostels Association, already registered in a number of countries. The aim of youth hostels is everywhere the same—to enable young people to enjoy hiking and cycling in the beautiful outdoors of Europe and North America; to enable youth to find wholesome companionship along the road, travelling inexpensively, and acquiring a knowledge of their neighbours' land and customs as well as their own. One of the codes of the hikers is that they pledge themselves to leave the countryside unmarred as a result of their travel in it.

The youth hostels idea began in Europe in 1912, as the practical dream of a German schoolmaster. Since its inception, youth in millions upon the open roads of Europe have advanced youth hostelling from a national to an international influence. In 1930 hostels were opened in England; in 1933 one opened in Canada, and in 1934 the movement spread to the United States. To-day there are thousands of hostels in forty different countries with several millions of members. As youth hostels concern themselves not at all with the religious or political beliefs, or social positions of members, the movement more and more is lessening racial distinctions.

So far Canada has but a dozen or more hostels and a scant hundred members. The first youth hostel in Canada was opened in the foothills of Alberta, and a total of twelve now forms a chain from the E. P. Ranch to the town of Banff in Banff National Park. In 1937 Canada was the twelfth country to be admitted to the International Youth Hostels Association, and extensive organization work is now being carried on to extend the movement from the Maritimes to British Columbia.

The development of outdoor recreation during the past decade has been a remarkable feature of Canadian social life, and is reflected in the increasing use and appreciation of the National Parks as playgrounds. Hiking is the least expensive of all forms of sport, and attracts thousands, who find among the mountains, hills and valleys of these outstanding scenic regions, new health and happiness and a greater appreciation of nature in all its varied forms.

Mine's Wife Is Honored At Nottinghamshire, England

Mrs. F. M. Millward, a mine's wife from Mansfield, Nottinghamshire, has been chosen from a list of 5,000 women as "the most representative British housewife."

Member of the women's section of the British Legion and of a choral society, Mrs. Millward was picked by the selection committee because she had been married 21 years, raised six children, was a good budgeter, found time for profitable interests outside her home and was "really happy."

Mrs. Dobbin Crawford, Liverpool surgeon, said: "A man and woman should marry for love, should be of the same social scale, the same age and interested in each other's pursuits and occupations."

Mrs. M. M. Bear, founder of the Wayfarer guild: "Domestic servants make excellent wives because of their training. Though men might walk out with factory girls, typists or clerks, when they wanted to settle down they showed a preference for domestic servants."

Robert Boothby, Conservative member of parliament for Aberdeen, warned bachelors not to marry until the girl of their choice proved she could cook.

Rajah Of Bamra To Have A Buckingham Palace In India

With his dark eyes sparkling after an hour's fox-hunt lesson, the 24-year-old Rajah of Bamra, told a Sunday Dispatch reporter in London of his plans to build a "Buckingham Palace" in his Indian State.

To be built in marble, with mosaic floors, lapis lazuli and onyx pillars and fittings, the cost will be £2,000,000 "at least."

The palace is to have automatic lights which switch on and off the moment anyone enters or leaves the rooms, illuminated fountains which will play night and day, and two swimming pools in green and black onyx.

The Rajah is in England to see British architects and engineers. "I want the interior to be as like Buckingham Palace as possible," he said.

The young palace-builder, with jewels worth more than £50,000 for his ceremonial turban, talked about the Rajah's sixpenny stores.

He and his Prime Minister, A. K. Bose, have been making a tour of them.

"I have bought one or two 3d. and 6d. souvenirs," the Rajah said. "They are wonderful stores."

During his visit the Rajah has spent considerable time in two-penny Underground trips and in learning to dance.

Once a week special foods from his own cook at Deoga are flown by Imperial Airways to Croydon.

"I am keeping most of the food that has been flown over for me to take with me to the Continent soon," explained the Rajah.

"I am very interested in dairy farming, and I am to visit Holkhead because I am told their dairies are some of the best in the world."

"When I return to India I intend introducing your electric road system for our roads."

The slender ruler of Bamra, a tiger-hunter in his spare time, hurried off to another twopenny Underground jaunt.

"Does your husband believe in the theory that kissing transmits germs?"

"No. He thinks that the only transmitter of germs is money, and is very careful not to hand me any."

"Beg pardon, m'lady," he said, "but Captain Duff-Hooper sent his man over to say that he is riding at ten and will be pleased to have you join him."

"Ask him to tell Captain Duff-Hooper that I'm sorry but I shan't be able to ride with him," said Rosa.
"Very good, m'lady."
"And Crump, we're saved."

"Saved, m'lady?"

"The castle and everything. Mr. Bingley has come to our rescue."

"I express my gratitude, sir," said Crump. "And I think you're interested to know that Elaine is an excellent working order, except that she squeaks a bit when she wags."

"Oil her springs," said Ernest.

"I was about to do so," said Crump, and faded from the room.

In the kitchen Crump found Sloot lachrymatically polishing a silver fish-slice and whistling "Happy Days are Here Again."

"Loss music and more elbow-grease, if you please," said the butler.

"But happy days are here again, Mr. Crump," said Sloot. "To-day we see the last of that loopy Yank."

"I was not aware that Mr. Bingley intends to leave us to-day," said Crump.

"Well, I saw him packing his things, such as they are. Is he going to shoot the moon, do you think?"

"If, by that vulgar expression, you imply that Mr. Bingley is going to steal away without paying his rent, Crump said, frostily, "you are doing a grave injustice to a most honorable gentleman."

"Well, he's going, and that's something," said Sloot. "Wonder what he'll tip. Good riddance, I say. Happy days are here—"

Sloot rose three inches from the floor on the top of Crump's toe.

"And if you'd like another dose of the same, young Sloot," Crump said, "just let me hear you pass any more remarks about Mr. Ernest Bingley."

In the breakfast room the earl was demolishing his third dish of codded eggs.

"Rather dressy this a.m.," he remarked. He could not have meant himself.

"Oh, I dressed up for your birthday," Ernest said.

"Did you also pack your bag for my birthday?" asked the earl. "I fell over it in the hall."

"My month is up, you know, sir."

"Don't be a gum-drop," said the earl. "Stay with us as long as you like as our guest."

"Thank you, sir, but I just can't," said Ernest. "It'd like to, though, very, very, very much."

"Name just one good reason why you won't stay on and at least spend Christmas with us."

"Business,"

"Business be blowed," said the earl. "You people can take care of it. You can keep in touch with them by phone—if we had a telephone. Tell you what—I'll have one put in."

"I'm terribly sorry," said Ernest, "but there is a matter which needs my personal attention. I must leave for New York at once."

"You'll be back, of course."

"Some day, I hope."

"Soon?"

"Not very soon, I'm afraid," said Ernest. "You must start soon if you're to catch your train. What can be keeping Father?"

"Where is he?"

"Said he had to go to his study to get something."

"What?"

"A parting gift, perhaps," said Rosa. "I say, Ernest, you must have a picture of Miss Castle with you. I'd be most interested to see it."

"I haven't—I mean, well, I've a sort of picture," said Ernest.

"Please let me see it."

"All right."

He took from his suit-case the old miniature of Lucy Bingley.

"She's charming!" exclaimed Lady Rosa. "And she does look a little like me. Prettier, though."

"She is not."

"Why, Ernest! Is that any way for a bridegroom to talk?"

"It's the truth," he said.

"Never tell Rowena that," advised Rosa. "Why is she in fancy dress costume?"

"Amateur theatricals."

The Earl of Bingley came hurrying toward them, bearing a large package. He presented it to Ernest.

"I want you to have this as a memento of your visit and as a very slight token of my great esteem," he said. "It is not diamonds. I wish it were."

"Thank you very much, sir," said Ernest.

Outside the door there was a sound like a riveting cone in a tunnel.

"I think I hear our car," said the earl. "So does most of Somersetshire, I expect. I say, Ernest, what's this picture?"

"His fiancée," Rosa told the earl. "Really? Mind if I have a peek?"

He took the miniature of Lucy Bingley from Ernest's hand.

"Love, she's lovely," he said. He stared hard at Lucy Bingley's comely face. "I could swear I've met her some place. Who is she?"

"Rowena Castle of Chard," said Ernest, "and you could hardly have met her, sir. She's never been abroad."

"I met her twin sister then," he said.

"She has no twin sister."

"Wish she had," said the earl. He handed the miniature to Ernest who stowed it in his bag.

Sloot opened the front door.

"The car is here, m'lady," he announced.

"I thought it wasn't woodpecker," he said.

I heard," said the earl. He held out his hand to Ernest.

FLIN FLON

"The Story of Its Finding and Position To-day"

By PRATT KUHN

present reserves blocked out for 15 years more continuous operation.

To-day there is no relief, no talk of depressions and hard times in Flin Flon, Manitoba—the busy little city of 8,000 named after the mine; and pay checks amount to about $280,000 monthly.

Because the civic authorities insist that everyone must be self-supporting, don't rush to Flin Flon unless you have money enough to get back. The civic authorities are a little hard-boiled about doing out relief, because they feel that everyone should be self-supporting.

And that's the final end of our Flin Flon story—for the present at least—though we may give you another picture later on because the subject is so interesting and so important to the people who live in the West, particularly in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Student of Plant Life

Jack Miner Spends Much Time Cultivating Flowers and Trees

He is better known for his championship of the principles of wild life conservation, Jack Miner is nevertheless a keen student of tree and plant life. Proof of this is seen at his bird sanctuary in Kingsville, where he has a roadside leading to his estate is lined with literally thousands of gorgeous blooms.

Yes, the naturalist has spent nearly as much time on trees and flowers as he has on his feathered visitors. Perhaps one of the choicest iris beds in North America may be seen at his home, grown through the years from bulbs donated by an admirer of the naturalist.

Few gardens on the continent are made up of flowers gathered from such a wide range of climate and territory. Practically every state of the Union and every Canadian province is represented.

And this floral beauty is in no way commercialized. Many a sick friend has enjoyed a magnificent bouquet of breath-taking beauty, hardly realizing that the finest blooms in North America were his.

The naturalist has clear-cut views on flowers as gifts. Give flowers to the living, not neglect them for the dead, he counsels. At a recent birthday celebration, Jack Miner told reporters he would have no desire to live, but for children, flowers, birds and music. And he meant it. By Lance Connery.

Originator of Idea

King Edward VII. Suggested Private Bath For Hotel Rooms

The late King Edward VII. was originator of the idea of every hotel room being equipped with private bath. Charles Ritz told reporters As Prince of Wales the king visited Paris frequently and stayed at the Bristol hotel. A bathtub was brought through the streets and carried to the royal chamber when the prince wanted a bath. The prince suggested to Coar Ritz that a hotel with bath in every room "would be a paying proposition" and the idea was carried out when the Paris Ritz was opened in 1898.

Secret Of Good Advertising

Putting Interesting Facts Into Words That Will Attract Readers

"Good advertising like good thinking and good talk, feeds on facts," says Mrs. Bernice Fitz-Gibbon, publicity director for the John Wanamaker store. "The good ad is where you feel the writer knows all but hasn't time to get everything in; not a dull, long catalogue listing, but a few vivid facts plus one startling esoteric bit that convinces the reader that if the writer knows that, he knows all that can be known."

A truly "humic" style comes from a platitude, not a paucity, of words."

One Of Greatest Needs

Simple Word To Replace Puzzling One Now In Use

What this country needs is not a good five-cent cigar but a good five-cent word to replace such alien importations as "totalitarian," "autarchy," "communist," and "fascist. Our forefathers had a word for it, says the New York Times. They called it treason and let it go at that. But when the Cassandras of today warn us that we are threatened with a totalitarian form of government, or that if we don't watch our step we will become an autarchy, the man in the street doesn't know what she is talking about. He even remains a bit foggy over such a simplification as "State despotism." But some genius will come along and solve the problem in one syllable.

Reliable Coin Testers

Counterfeit Currency Is Quickly Detected By Test

As protection against the wave of counterfeit coins in Siam, merchants of Bangkok and other cities have installed large apes as coin testers. Every coin received is given to the ape, which puts it in its mouth. If it is good, the animal drops it into a receptacle behind him. If it is bad he throws it on the floor, chattering loudly. How they know the difference is a mystery, but they are said always to be right.

A Timely Warning

Cold Desserts Or Drinks After Hearty Meal Are Dangerous

Dr. Harry M. Eberhard told members of the American Institute of Homoeopathy at Philadelphia, that many deaths from "acute indigestion" were caused by heart attacks brought on by cold desserts or drinks after a hearty meal. Chilling the stomach stops the flow of digestive juices for about half an hour, Dr. Eberhard said. Then they start flowing at an excessive rate to make up for lost time.

Saved Prize Sheep

Mixture Of Whiskey And Milk Prevented Death From Exposure

Whiskey mixed with milk saved prize sheep from death on the Chatsworth House ranch, Australia, recently. In an effort to save valuable flocks from death by exposure during heavy rains and floods, the ranch owners bought up gallons of whiskey and milk. A solution of the two was injected into each member of the valuable flock and not one died of exposure.

New Operation Method

Puts Patients Back Into Circulation Without Loss Of Time

A method by which a Roumanian physician puts his patients on their feet directly from the operating table was described in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"This new method is of inestimable advantage in time of war," the Journal's Bucharest correspondent reported on the work of Dr. Campeanu, lecturer at the University of Bucharest.

"The evacuation of war hospitals thus becomes simplified. By shortening the stay of patients in the hospital, the surgical section of Campeanu's clinic in Brasov were able, with the same number of beds, to accommodate 500 more patients than in the previous year."

The articles said in the period from 1934 to 1938, 3,510 patients left their beds the day following the operation without experiencing any disadvantage.

The article said:

"An assistant of Campeanu whose appendix had been removed, after having stepped down from the operating table, forthwith acted as assistant at the next operation and afterwards walked about. His recovery was prompt."

The Alexandra Peel

Remarkable Belts Were Gift To British Empire 50 Years Ago

The ancient Society of College Youths rang the Alexandra Peel, some of the most remarkable bells in the British Empire, on the anniversary of the Coronation. The peel, which hangs in the Queen's Tower of the Imperial Institute, was a present 50 years ago from Mrs. Elizabeth M. Millar, of Melbourne, the only condition of the gift being that the bells should be rung on the birthday and accession day of the Sovereign and the birthdays of the Prince and Princess of Wales. Each of the ten bells is named after a different member of the Royal Family. Their total weight is over eight tons, and when they are in full peal the tower at Institute sways nearly a foot out of alignment.
